

Partnership Alliance led group to visit S.C. Congressional delegation

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Monday, October 17, 2005

Greenwood, South Carolina

A contingent from Greenwood County is visiting Senators Lindsey Graham and Jim DeMint, as well as Congressman Gresham Barrett today. Thornwell Dunlap, President County Bank; Robbie Templeton, County Council Chairman; Lori Hajost, Chairman of the Partnership Alliance; and John Lowery, Marketing and Operations Director, Partnership Alliance will carry federal funding requests from a wide variety of Greenwood County public and civic organizations to our representatives in Washington.

According to Jeff Fowler, CEO, Partnership Alliance, "The trip is the culmination of several month's work by the Partnership and public and civic leaders and meetings with our Washington representatives. Working from what we learned in a similar trip last year, we helped various groups and organizations in the county to shape their funding requests into the format desired by our congressional delegations."
